remember

As 1962 draws to a close we find ourselves reminiscing over the highlights of the year--the work and rush of homecoming, the spirit of the student body on loyalty day, the tension of seniors on award's day, and the feeling of accomplishment at graduation. These exciting times came and were over in a relatively short time, but the hours spent over our English texts and listening to lectures in economics will likewise remain with us. All of these--both fun and work--will be "moments to remember."

Themes are an important part of English classes. Here Mary Feeney and John Sankowski compare compositions and grades as Mike Meyers rereads his composition.

English Is That Branch Of Knowledge Our

"Ugh! English!" is an expression sometimes heard from students of Calumet High School.

"Ugh" or not, English is a required subject. Students concentrate on literature the first semester, while grammar is stressed during the second, or visa versa. In the first year of English, students review grammar rules, read short stories, biographies, and plays.

During the second year emphasis is placed on the classics, such as Silas Marner and Julius Caesar. American literature is studied in the third year of English. Students are also given a chance to write short essays and do composition work.

For those who are planning to go to college, there is a fourth year of English offered. This tries to prepare an average student for college work by giving a review of all grammar rules, word definitions, and a chance to apply them in composition work and themes.

Larry Nimetz co-operates with Mary Ann Lucas to portray a scene from Macbeth in their college English class.

Future Depends On

Sentence structure and Shakespeare's plays are not solely important in English. Judy Smith has the duty of giving an oral book report in addition to her other assignments.

Measuring lines in poetry is not an easy task and Mike Starenick knows practicing will help him to better understand it if he should have it on an exam.

Future American Voters Learn About This

Jean Streeter intends to have her letter to her congressman in the mail plenty early. The answer she receives will become part of her government notebook.

.... that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights Although we say these words frequently, many people do not realize what they are saying. The purpose of each history class is to teach each student the events preceding and following the signing of this great document, as well as other important happenings in American history. World history, which is offered to the sophomores at Calumet, pertains to occurrences in other parts of the world; such as, the rise and fall of the Roman Empire, the cradles of civilization, and Columbus' discovery of America.

During their final year, each senior is required to take a semester of government, which is a detailed study of the American democratic system, emphasizing forms and functions, and a semester of economics, a study of the American production system and how it operates.

Finding an informative book concerning the chapter they are currently studying in history, is just one of the many problems confronting Jeanie Crowe and John Ferrell.

Democratic Society

All eyes are up front as Harry Warrens holds the attention of his classmates by giving them a book report in his government and economics class.

Using a map which portrays Europe as it looked during the Crusades, Vivian McCoy shows the political effects of these wars.

These students appear to be attentive listeners, which may eventually prove to be an asset to them in many phases of education, especially in U.S. history.

Students At Calumet Work To Secure Basic

Mike McBride, a junior who has shown outstanding abilities in the field of mathematics, ponders a problem with the slide rule in his trigonometry course.

Fundamentals Of Math

Barbara Nasby pays close attention to Roger Book's explanation of angle one, while hoping she can do as well with angle two, in plane geometry.

Rayette Ashby seems very engrossed in advanced algebra as contrasted to John Williams, who cocks a wary eye towards the photographer.

From elementary arithmetic to high school advanced algebra problems, students have always tried to improve and enrich their mathematical vocabulary and experiences.

With a wide variety of math classes at Calumet, ranging from general math to trigonometry, the student is always able to find the math class that is best suited to his particular needs and requirements.

Visual aids are very useful in the high school curriculum. Cathy Johnston, algebra student, shows us just one of the many used by the math department.

A typical laboratory background sets the scene as Dave Fiddler and Barbara Edlen mix a few chemicals during the process of proving a theory in chemistry.

Sciences Aid In Better Understanding The

Calumet High School has a science department in which students can learn the different facts and principles that are used to explain what is known and to help discover the unknown in the scientific realm.

The high school curriculum includes biology, a study of plants and animals, in which students dissect different species and study their structures. General science classes deal in a general study and the students learn fundamentals of basic science. Chemistry is a class in which the student performs various experiments to obtain basic concepts of organic and inorganic substances, and physics is the study of matter and energy, the two basic substances of life.

Morgan Lackney, freshman biology student, uses the microscope to make a close study of the different structures of an animal cell.

Jim Wahlman, demonstrating the Wimhurst static machine, glances at his audience only to find the photographer is among his listeners in physics class.

World We Live In

Jim Ritter prepares the specimen while Wanda Hornbeak prepares the necessary solution. They find there are many detailed tasks like these required in a general science course at C.H.S.

Vocational Students Prepare

Since some of the student body has complained about short skirts, Linda Smurdon wants to measure Mary Gedda's to get it just right.

Rush, rush, rush--students hurry to reach the home economics room to get everything ready, for today they try out a new recipe.

Everyone suddenly becomes very busy following the instructions as closely as they can. Ingredients are whipped, chopped, mixed, and finally placed in the oven to cook. While everyone is waiting hopefully, they prepare the table and tidy up the kitchen.

At last it's finished and everyone proudly displays her handi-work. Then they sit down at the table and enjoy the tasty dishes they have prepared.

For these girls home economics is a sort of preparatory training for them as the future homemakers of tomorrow. In the home economics classes, they also receive instruction on sewing, home planning, and home nursing.

How to be a perfect housewife is something every girl learns in home economics class, and Kay Matia, Sylvia Nidelhoff, Era Freeman, Carolyn Sterling, Judy Monroe and Treva Belcher are no exceptions.

For Their Future Roles In Life

Gerald Lowry proves to be successful in metal shop with steady hands and steady nerves--without them it may be disastrous.

Larry Modglin gives a helping hand to Henry Columbo in measuring the exact dimensions of a board in wood shop.

Leland Sims, Jim Jones, and Ron Furgey are diligently at work on filing, while Bennie Haynes and Hershel Florence seem momentarily detracted from their lathe work in metal shop.

Metal and wood shop give boys the experience they need to aid them in securing vocational jobs after graduation. Special knowledge and skill is required to operate the numerous mechanical devices the boys are confronted with in both shops.

Before entering either specific field of wood or metal shop, the boys are acquainted with the basic knowledge of machine working through mechanical drawing. Here they can become accustomed to designating objects and tools by their proper name and viewing their proposed projects in their proper prospective. Then comes the time when each boy is given his chance to put to practice what he has learned.

Reaching high to complete his jump shot, Charles Wethington finds that Jim Ryan is also reaching high to take that ball away from him. Watching the action is Kenny Ring and Jim Rivers.

Physical Fitness

Most any hour of the day, should a visitor come to Calumet, he would be greeted with screams from the girls' gym--screams of excitement or glee. These girls are taught good sportsmanship by playing a competitive sport daily. Some favorite sports are kickball, volleyball, softball, and line soccer. Handsprings, tumbling, and pushups are performed later in the year.

The boys' gym classes are basically the same as the girls'. Among the more popular sports played by the boys are basketball, team relays, and acrobatics. They, too, are taught from the beginning the importance of good sportsmanship in victory or defeat.

The importance of healthy bodies is emphasized in each physical education class by a thorough calisthenics program.

Requires Proper Knowledge And Conditioning

"P.T.X.Z, yes, that's right," is the reply of Candy Ruth, who is checking the letter chart for her fellow classmates in health and safety class.

Alexandria Kostick finds an explanation of the human heart rather amusing--at least when Ron Atterberry explains it.

Since the beginning of time, man has tried and proved different ways for making this world a safer place to live. The students of each health and safety class are taught many of these methods.

One large field covered in each class is the study of the human anatomy—what it is composed of, its functions and what keeps it going.

Both health and safety play an important part in each and every one of our lives, therefore, it is considered an important subject at Calumet, and it is a required subject for sophomores.

Testing the theory that one learns something new every day, Alan Anderson explores the hidden parts of the human ear.

Language, Art, And

"Travel" is the keyword nowadays for many students in the U.S., even though it may not be literally. The language classes of Calumet High School give our students an excellent chance to prepare themselves.

French, Spanish and Latin are each taught for two years giving the individual a brief insight of the colorful background of the countries where it is spoken, its origin, and an opportunity to learn how to speak and write it.

Also, a student taking a foreign language may join the club sponsored by each. They are: Sodilitas Porvorum Caesaris for Latin, Pan Am for Spanish, and Le Cercle Francais for French Club.

Taking a trip via the poster route through ancient Spain, are Bill Woods and Tom Wilson, students in Spanish I.

Putting practices on the board is nothing new for French students, but the question that is foremost in the mind of Doris Ohm, Joanne Kelley, and Tom Toth is "Why did it have to be me?"

Music Help To Break International Barriers

Jim Valentine, John Vodenik, and Ron Huber compose and practice their version of a trio during band class when they have the free time.

Sandy Christoff, Rosie Frankhauser, Gloria Webster, and Marie Poremski gather around the piano to practice for the up-and-coming nine week exam and are accompanied by Mary Zaharie.

Students of Calumet High School have a fine opportunity to further their artistic qualities in art and music classes.

Beginning crafts, the use of construction paper, and working with plaster and clay are just a few of the activities offered in art. A specialized study in on phase is offered during the fourth year where an interested student can prepare himself for the college life ahead. In addition, all students may enter the annual contest sponsored by H. Gordon and Sons and The Gary Post Tribune, which requires a commercial art drawing of any garment in the store.

Classes in music, band and chorus, are divided into groups for purposes of practicing to make perfect. This is evidenced by the presentation of music and precision marching, and has thus become closely involved in the extra-curricular activities.

James Sechrist is getting ready for the Christmas season by using the method of block pressing to create a reproduction of bells.

Superior Positions Result Through Proper

All homework is not done at home. Robbi Nidelhoff applies some of the skills she has learned in salesmanship class, to her part-time job.

Making a general business class as interesting as possible, Linda Savka furnishes an interesting bulletin board for all students.

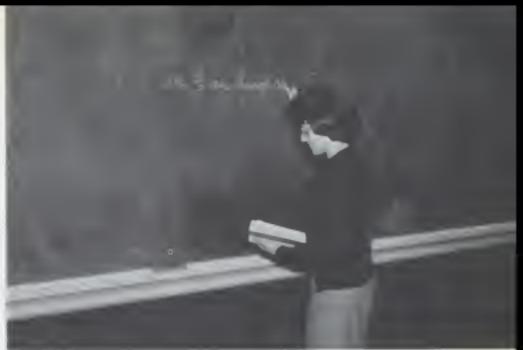

"Guilty or not guilty?" That is the question of these students as they re-enact a courtroom trial in a business law class.

Commercial Training

"That couldn't be right," says Larry Huddlestun as he looks again at the total on the adding machine in his general business class.

Showing visibly the progress she has made in business arithmetic, Marie Poremski proves herself an apt student.

In order to "lick" typing I, Janice Kostelnick must know the correct way to write, address, and even to "lick" the envelope.

Calumet High School has a wide and varied commercial program to offer to those students interested in becoming part of the business world.

The business education course consists of business arithmetic, whose main purpose is to apply the basic skills already learned in elementary school to business problems faced by every individual in his daily life such as insurance, banking investments, home ownership and taxes. General business contributes to intelligent economic citizenship through a study of business. Salesmanship deals primarily with selling door-to-door. In addition to techniques, emphasis will be placed upon practice sales talks, a sales manual, and outside speakers. Retailing covers all phases of store operation including the most recent developments in the field, particularly in store organization, layout, buying, sales promotion and record keeping. Book-keeping consists of the learning of the principals of maintaining neat and accurate financial records. Business law defines the rights and obligations of all citizens in their civic and business affairs.

For those girls interested in going into secretarial work, typing I and II, shorthand I and II, and secretarial training are offered.

Leisure Hours Are Filled By C.H.S. Students

100 moments to Remember:

In Organizations

Clubs play an important part in making the Calumet High School program a well-rounded one. The experiment that blew up during Chemistry Club, the hours you spent washing the lipstick off your eyebrows and the egg out of your hair following the F.H.A. initiation, and the cold you got after the junior class car wash will all be memories.

National Honor Societies Provide Incentive

Getting a product ready to sell is equally important as selling it, and rendering their services are Martin Ligocki, Roger Book, and Don Kurts.

"Sell this candy!" may well be the words of Martin Ligocki to members Carolyn Lohman, Carolyn Spangler, and Kathy Olson.

Helping to officiate the monthly Junior Honor Society meeting is Martin Ligocki, president; Jerry Poortinga, reporter; Graeme Thickins, vice-president; Barbara Flint, secretary, and Barbara Nasby, treasurer.

To C.H.S. Students

The future of the Senior Honor Society rests on the shoulders of its officers. Planning the next meeting is David Hochstetler, treasurer, Howard Godfrey, reporter, Jim Hodge, president, Eileen Hollenbaugh, secretary, and Mary Feeney, vice-president.

Calumet's Honor Societies provide a real incentive for each and every student. These clubs not only give the students the will to make good grades, but also are in themselves providing a valuable service to C.H.S.

The Junior Honor Society sells candy each day to students during the lunch hours. They also sell Christmas candy with which members provide a scholarship for a worthy student to help further his education.

For one of their projects, the Senior Honor Society, also, sold candy to raise money for their treasury. In year's passed, they, too, have given a scholarship to a deserving senior.

Donna Sowles, who as of February 7 had sold $58 worth of candy, is shown making another sale to Pat Schwartz.

Thespians Present "The Heiress" And "Blithe

What goes on behind the stage? It would take too long to tell! There are so many problems that sometimes the sponsor resorts to a stop, a stare, and a scratch on the head, as the cast contests with a blank appearance. Such was seen while the play "Blithe Spirit" was rehearsed.

A silence falls on the audience, the curtain rises, the moment has arrived, and all eyes are on the actors. From there on a certain feeling between the players and the audience is present. It isn't easy to achieve this feeling. It takes time and practice--there are rehearsals, and the job of getting to know and understand your character.

The Calumet Players present two plays a year. They selected "Blithe Spirit," by Noel Coward, and "The Heiress," by Ruth and Augustus Goetz. The plays are directed by Mr. Roy Chapman and an assistant director, chosen by him from the club.

Anyone in the club is eligible to try-out for a play. Then the remaining members are assigned to one of the various crews: make-up; properties, light and sound, house, stage, publicity, costume, ushers, and paint, all of which are vital to the production of a play.

The annual Drama Festival, which is held in the spring, is also a production of the Calumet Players, who started it three years ago.

Lights are very effective in any play. To make sure that all is in tip-top shape, George Carl adjusts the lights as Roger Toczek steadies the ladder.

"I enjoy this work!" may well be the comment of Gloria Webster, member of the make-up crew in "Blithe Spirit", as she applies make-up on Sherra Wilt.

Spirit" In 1961-62

Props are important in any play. Carolyn Patterson checks the crystal ball for a scene in "Blithe Spirit".

Officiating in their respective capacity are officers: Laura Ludwig, secretary; George Carl, president; and Roger Toczek, vice-president.

Solemnly and very thoughtfully Gloria Webster watches as Marie Sankowski, Karen Howell and Mary Ann Mikalowsky tediously alter her costume for her part in "The Heiress".

"Blocking" a play and remembering where to go and when during a play is important to any thespian. Here a scene is being rehearsed from "The Heiress", the "Players" second production.

Homemaking, F.H.A.

Barbara Loomis formally inducts Sharon Huddleston into the Homemaking Club by pinning the initiates' ribbon on her.

Getting in the spirit of Christmas, Jahlena Fulton and Linda Potchen help to spread cheer to those less fortunate by packing Christmas baskets.

Helping one and all and learning while they're busy, are the members of the Homemaking Club. Each year the girls have many varied activities, beginning with their initiation for the club's members and ending with their spring luncheon, where good-byes are said to the senior members. And during the year there are taffy apple and pennant-pin sales. The profits from these sales go towards their annual Christmas cheer baskets, which are given to needy families, and the yearly trip taken by the club.

Yvonne Webster led the senior "chipmunks," Carol Stevens, Barbara Casassa and Sara Schneider in a Christmas tune, especially designed for Santa, Linda Wright, while an over-excited youngster, Donna Wilson, made sure she was going to get what she wanted for the holidays. This was one of the skits given at the club's initiation.

Jahlena Fulton, president of the club, leads the organization in prayer before being served at the initiation. Seated at the same table are Marcia Hunt, secretary, Jewell Gambill, vice-president, Barbara Loomis, treasurer, and Sara Schneider, historian.

Lead Girls To A Better, Brighter Future

Responsible for carrying on the activities of the club are Carol Wywick, historian; Cheryl Harms, reporter; Peggy Kennedy, song leader; Rosie Frankhauser, vice-president; Betty Mead, honor chapter chairman; Judy Warren, parliamentarian; Donna Stasin, president; and Julie Kalinowicz, treasurer.

Some of the girls of Calumet will be the homemakers of tomorrow, and they learn the full extent of their duties in Future Homemakers of America.

Members participate in different activities, and help in charity work. To be an honor chapter is the goal of these homemakers. In order to achieve this, the club must perform a certain number of activities. Some of these include charity work and supporting a needy child.

Dues are $1.25 per year, and any girl is eligible if she has average grades and is of sophomore class standing.

Suzann Carden looks over the F.H.A. emblem and creed. All members are to recite the creed at the beginning of each meeting.

G.A.A. And Varsity

Dim lights, soft music and pastel colors set the atmosphere for "Winter Wonderland", this year's G.A.A. ball.

During each home basketball game, two or more G.A.A. members are ready to check coats. This benefits not only the students but also raises funds for other worth-while projects done to better Calumet High School. Also, there are weekly athletic meetings where the girls participate in volleyball, basketball, baseball, and other popular sports. The traditional Christmas tree seen each year in the main entrance, was placed in the cafeteria this year by the G.A.A. senior girls, who traditionally are responsible for decorating it.

This year's annual G.A.A. ball was held December 9 in the cafeteria, where music was provided by "Buddy Pressner and the Blue Tones".

One of the more formal meetings is the spring banquet at which the new officers are announced and outstanding members receive recognition for their accomplishments.

At the end of the initiation the new and old members joined together to sing "Kum Ba Yah", an African song that is sung at the close of many of their meetings.

Discussing the business of the club are Carole Prasnikar, president; Carolyn Jelenek, first vice-president; Barbara Nasby, second vice-president; Margaret Johnson, secretary; and Carolyn Duke, treasurer.

The G.A.A. council, which decides many important matters, consists of Linda Yeager, Nancy Haussman, Marsha Wrobleuski, Sue Fabian, Rayette Ashby, Sandra Anderson, Judy Carpenter, and Vivian McCoy and Karen Bjorklund.

Club Organize And Support Sports Program

The biggest attraction to girls seems to be boys. If this is so, Varsity Club is one club that would interest them the most.

During the years at C.H.S., Varsity Club has been a highlight of school life of boys. Members work hard during the year for a common goal--to earn money for jackets, which are awarded to the senior boys who have earned three major letters in one sport. In doing this, members sell programs at basketball games, participate in a car wash and collect dues. All these projects add to the "kitty".

Before a boy can join the club, he must first have earned a major letter in one sport.

Tom Howard will not let Tina Hicks see the basketball game without buying a program.

Howard Godfrey takes advantage of club member Richard Nixon's services during the car wash sponsored by the club.

In addition to participating in sports activities, Elmer Hart, treasurer, David Alvarado, vice-president, Harry Warrens, secretary, and Larry Simpson, president, become familiar with the business of leading an organization.

Sunshine Society

Gloria Webster, Darlend Hodge, Pat Ross, and Kathleen Ross sort, wrap and label gifts to be packed in the Christmas baskets.

The Sunshine Society meeting is called to order by their president, Sharon Adams. The members of the club all stand and recite the creed. During the meeting the girls discuss different social problems, projects and future intentions of the S.S.S.

This year the S.S.S. girls sold candy to help pay for medical supplies and equipment at Reilly Hospital, for the children who were less fortunate than themselves. They made Christmas cheer baskets containing food, toys, and clothing for the poverty stricken families in this area. In addition, each year the club offers a $400 scholarship to a senior girl planning to go into the field of nursing.

As one can readily see, the girls of S.S.S. are primarily interested in helping others, rather than themselves.

Planning and organizing the dance that is to be sponsored by the S.S.S. is the job of Rebecca Helton, clean-up chairman, Pat Hammonds, ticket chairman, and Connie Goodin, decoration chairman.

Robed in their official dress is Marsha Wrobleuski, recording secretary, Carolyn Crow, corresponding secretary, Sharon Adams, president, Carole Praanikar, vice-president, and Judy Shimko, treasurer, as they leave to preside over a meeting.

Music Club Help To Brighten Student's Life

"Music--the universal language of man." Music Club, a club that joined the list of others in the previous year, gives the students at C.H.S. a chance to understand and appreciate music.

The students that belong to Music Club enjoy the music of many distant lands, just as they know and enjoy the music of the United States. Just knowing and enjoying the music is not enough; one, if interested, appreciates music and broadens his knowledge and interest of different styles, origins and types of music.

The club is composed of junior and senior students, and is headed by a president and secretary. A committee meets to decide the music to be played at the meetings and makes the arrangements to have the records. The members of the committee are changed every third meeting.

Mr. Yacko, sponsor of the Music Club, plays a recording before commencing to explain how students can learn to appreciate good music.

Pat Will, Midge Charbonneau, Hershal Florence and Ronald Egener display one of the many popular albums that are enjoyed by the members of the club.

Students Take An Active Part In F.T.A.

Pushing the club project is Virginia Spiller, treasurer, Wally Shadwell, vice-president, Jan Nidelchoff, president, and Robbi Nidelchoff, secretary.

Yes, we have a few brave souls in C.H.S. who they were taken on a tour of the building and are considering teaching as a profession when they grounds and were lectured on the fine points of graduate.

If you're in this category, then the Future Teachers of America is the club for you. To help further their knowledge of teaching, the members visited Indiana State College in Terre Haute this spring. They, also visited the I.U. Extension. There

To raise money for these projects, the club made and sold dolls at basketball games, as well as during lunch hours. Panel discussions and guest speakers highlight the meetings and a good time is had by all.

Dolls! Dolls! Dolls! "We must sell these dolls," is the plea of Linda Wertz to members of the club during a meeting.

Joyce Nagy and Marie Richards are entering Indiana University Gary Center, where the entire F.T.A. organization made a visit early in the spring.

And Chemistry Club

Chemistry Club is an organization concerned primarily with arousing the interests of students in chemistry and other fields of science. To achieve these interests the members of the club were shown films, and several speakers, connected with science through industry and education, gave talks and provided information and encouragement for promising careers in this field.

All members are chemistry students at present or have been in the past.

The expressions on a face can often portray many things. That of Art Mathas and Randy Sanders seems to say "Chemistry Club is a real "blast," but Laura Ludwig's seems to say, "Settle down and pay your dues."

Complete attention, as one may see, is given to the speaker by the members of the club at one of their business meetings.

Deciding important matters concerning the Chemistry Club are Laura Ludwig, treasurer, Frankie Wells, secretary, Larry Simpson, president, Jim Hodge, vice president, and Jim Wahlman, sergeant at arms.

Secretarial Club Prepares For Future As

Learning new routines to pass on to the other majorettes are: Laura Ludwig, president, Bonnie Auten, vice-president, Linda Wertz, calling chairman, and Roberta Ashby, chaplain. Not pictured is: Pat Timm, calling chairman, and Linda Beach, secretary.

If someone would take a survey to find what students had the most colds during the school year, chances are the students heading the list would be Calumet's majorettes. These girls, during the football season, are out on the field between halves to perform for the spectators and are not dressed in what is normally termed warm clothing.

The majorettes spend long hours practicing and getting ready for these halftime exercises and, as most everyone will agree, this practice certainly pays off in the pleasure it gives visiting fans and those from Calumet.

Majorettes Lead Band

Secretarial Club is the club that was formed to help career-minded girls to put to use the knowledge they have acquired from taking such courses as typing, shorthand, bookkeeping and secretarial training.

These girls learn to work as good secretaries before they are out of school through practical experience with teachers, which enable them to secure better jobs when they graduate. Each girl is assigned to a teacher to act as his or her secretary, doing such work as typing tests, checking papers and handling business correspondence, as well as some personal business.

Every year the girl who shows to be the most promising secretary is awarded the amount of $100.

The club shows films and invites guest speakers to give lectures, which bring out the many facts, duties, and obligations of a person in this field.

Getting experience as a secretary to Mrs. Holmgren, Carol Martin takes dictation and will transcribe an urgent letter.

A representative from the Indiana Employment Agency speaks to the members of the club at a recent meeting about the tips on seeking employment.

Upon meeting Jo Ellen Wright in the library, Karen Bounds, a fellow member of the club, seeks her advice on the placement of a letter.

Officers Dottie Cable, vice-president; Nancy Gillespie, treasurer; Judy Moyer, president; and Freddie Brock, secretary; are well aware of the work that is involved in the leadership of a club.

Y.F.C. And Language

These members of the Youth for Christ occupy their minds by burying them in the organization's national magazine.

Bill Renner and Dave Fidler display the American flag while Joyce Hickel proceeds to play the National Anthem and Nancy Loomis stands by.

Youth for Christ is the club that was organized for the purpose of furthering the interest and understanding of the teenager in the work of our Lord. Y.F.C. is not only popular at Calumet, but is also organized on a nation-wide basis.

The members of Y.F.C. are active participants in such programs as quiz teams and church rallies. The quiz team travels to area rallies and competes against other groups to test their knowledge of the Bible. The rallies include singing and guest speakers, who try to answer any questions which may arise in connection with the Bible.

As one may see, one of Y.F.C.'s primary objective's is to promote good Christian fellowship among the students and provide wholesome activities for Christian teenagers.

Donna Bargfeldt, president of Y.F.C., reads from the Bible as Jim Monroe, second vice-president, Joyce Hickel, first vice-president, Nancy Loomis, secretary-treasurer, and David Fidler, program chairman, look on.

Clubs Provide Instructive, Useful Activity

Language is the basic of all human relationships. Students must be taught the form of different languages and how to use them best. For success, it is essential to have the ability to speak and write well, and that is what the students in Latin Club, Cerle Francais, and Pan-Am Club learn to do.

The Pan-Am Club is an organization established to further the interest of the culture, customs, and ideas of the Spanish speaking countries. Membership in the club is open to students who have been or presently are enrolled in Spanish II. This year the club members participated in a field trip to Chicago to see "King of Kings" and "El Cid". The club also had other activities such as a Spanish party in which they used a "piñata" for part of the entertainment.

Cerle Francais is the club for students interested in French. It presents to its members French culture in an appealing manner. The club sponsored a sock hop and sold stationery to raise funds for a trip taken to Chicago Art Institute, where they received a first hand glimpse of French art.

Latin Club was organized to help the students in it become better acquainted with Latin American culture. During the year the members participated in such activities as paper drives and bake sales. In addition, the club managed to arrange a few bowling parties.

Leading the French Club in their activities is Tom Mauger, president; Marvin Vandewater, vice-president; Joanne Kelley, treasurer; and Donna Sowles, secretary.

Terry Taylor, president of Latin Club, presides over a meeting, while officers Mike Meyers, vice-president; Mary Green, secretary; and Sandy Anderson, treasurer; listen attentively.

Presiding over a Pan-Am meeting is Martin Ligocki, president, with his officers Roger Book, secretary, Carol Adams, treasurer, and Jewell Gambill, vice-president.

Pausing for a moment before showing a film are the Audio Visual officers: Betty Mead, secretary-treasurer; Mike Meyers, vice-president; and Joanne Kelley, president.

David Fidler is shown checking the projector before he enters a classroom to show a film.

Tabs, Audio Visual

Many students find that the type of books they desire are not to be found in the school library and so TABS do a booming business. Teen-Age Book Club's objective is to make it possible for students to obtain books needed for class assignments and for enjoyable reading.

The books sold by TABS are of a paper-backed type but are usually not condensed. They are purchased from a well-known company which specializes in teen books.

By selling books TABS make a considerable amount of money for their treasury, while also performing a great service to the students at C.H.S.

Audio Visual is considered one of the most active clubs in the high school. The members are responsible for the showing of films in the many different classes and are also responsible for the care of the audio visual equipment; such as, tape recorders, record players, film strip projectors, micro projectors, and over-head opaque projectors.

Elaine Ellch, Angela Torchia, Judy Butler, and Starr Keeling are scanning through the new books that have just been received by the Teen-Age Book Club.

And Drivers' Organized To Benefit Students

Kenny Peterson and Art Mathas warn Steve Vuich to park his car so that it will not be a hazard to other student drivers.

Art Mathas and Roger Williams feel obligated to explain some of the mechanisms of the student drivers' car to the feminine sex; in this case, Roberta Ashby.

"Heed your driving duties more than your rights, and another's rights more than your own," is just one of the mottoes respected by the members in Drivers' Club. The club was organized for the many students who drive to school either because of working conditions or for their own convenience.

To be a member of this club the applicant must have a C average and must be registered as an authorized driver and student.

The fundamental objective of the club is to help students obtain a better understanding of the rules and regulations for safe driving. It has set up various rules concerning the rights and privileges of those who drive to school.

Drivers' Club is responsible for the actions of all the students who drive and park in the school parking lot.

The members of the Drivers' Club elected Larry Modglin, treasurer, George Vondrak, secretary, and Ken Peterson, president, to their offices in the spring of last year.

C.H.S. Choral Department Boasts New Robes

Physical education class is not the only class where students watch the scales. It is not only good to know, but a requirement to have, a knowledge of the musical scales in order to enter the chorus class.

A Cappella is one of the most popular organizations at Calumet High School. Besides donating time to singing for charitable institutions, hospitals, and convalescent homes, A Cappella furnishes music for the "Spring Festival" and "Winter Concert" as well as concerts of their own.

However, chorus class has many singing groups, that the students can participate in. Girl's and Boy's chorus are but a few of the musical groups that can be found at Calumet.

Elaine Volk, treasurer and vice-president, displays her new robe to Sandy Chancellor, president, while Jane Charbonneau, secretary admires her own.

Precision Marching

Music, music, music! Yes, it flows easily and smoothly from Calumet's band under the direction of Mr. George Bortz. But it's not all work, for the students participate in many different activities. Among which are: the visit to Purdue University for the "Purdue Band Day," the "Village Shopping Plaza Parade," a trip to Holland, Michigan for the "Tulip Festival," the concerts at Beaty Memorial in Westville, the annual "Memorial Day Parade" in Black Oak, and for the first time, this year, a mid-winter concert and a minstrel show. In addition, the band gives their support to the teams through their organization of a "Pep Band."

In order to have these activities, the band sells candy and has a tag day, where donations are solicited from the citizens in the community.

The 1961-62 "A" band consists of: (first row) K. Metz, M. Hunt, C. Peterson, B. Swank, L. Kelso, D. Ludwig, P. Duncan, C. Ash, J. Trimble, J. Farrell, C. Mullens, (second row) J. Herr, V. Drake, B. And Concert Music Highlighted In "A" Band

Warrior fans found these members of the "Pep Band" ready and willing to sound off at many of the games and pep sessions.

Co-operation, Work

"It's very similar to a typewriter," may well be the remark of Betty Summar as she looks over a linotype machine with Sharon Woosley.

Hard work and genuine determination are qualities possessed by "The Warrior" staff. Each month we at C.H.S. are given newspaper, and behind the publication of this paper lies the strategy, tact, and self-discipline of the staff.

"The Warrior" has a monthly circulation of over 1200. It is read not only by students and their parents but by editors of other papers and various subscribers in all parts of the world.

Straight news stories highlight "The Warrior", but it, also, contains feature columns which are of interest to any reader. "The Inquiring Reporter" gives students a chance to offer their opinions about various things, and if one is in a sad mood, "Round 'n About" is a column worth reading. For the boys, the sports page is filled with game statistics and information, and "Joyce's Choices" is a column no wise girl will fail to read, for it brings her up to date on all the latest fashions and fads.

Good proof reading can make or break a newspaper whether it be a school or a community publication. Joyce Nagy wants to make sure there are no errors in "The Warrior."

Decisions are tough to make sometimes, and Richard Hixon appears undecided as he plans a layout sheet for the sports page.

Folding papers seems like an endless job, but Sandra Guthrie and Venia Hatmaker try to do it with a smile.

Necessary Factors In 1962 School Newspaper

Jack Weitze, photographer for the newspaper, scans through some old negatives in search for a needed picture.

The solemn face of George Carl expresses the serious approach that one must take while setting type.

Nothing is more disgusting than to be typing a story and discover something is misspelled. Linda Potchen, reporter, aids Linda Groover by checking the files on the spelling of a proper name.

A smile is good for the moral and Sandy Chancellor, editor of "The Warrior" believes a smile is also good for a good newspaper.

Business manager Cheryl Harms was responsible for corresponding with local merchants about advertising in the yearbook. As a result of her time and efforts, $1,488 was collected in advertising funds.

Pam Thickens, file clerk, is not just looking at a piece of paper. She's finding out what her assignment is for the weekly deadline.

Yearbook Staff Strives Diligently To Meet

Laura Ludwig, reporter, proudly displays a plaque awarded to "The Chieftain" by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Do these lay-outs! Have you written that copy yet? Those pictures have to be taken, and you had better meet that deadline!--are just a few pieces of conversation that can be heard coming from the publication room during the process of putting together hundreds of pictures and thousands of words that make up the yearbook.

The organization, gathering of facts and the publication of "The Chieftain" is a tough job, and no one knows this better than Janette Ralph and Carol Wyrick, co-editors of the yearbook, and their staff.

A lot of patience and a serious attitude is essential to be a staff member. Layouts, pictures, and writing copy combine to make up the yearbook. This year, as in years passed, an ad drive was sponsored to help raise funds for the financing of The Chieftain.

Believe it or not, girls can be effective sports writers. Christine Nimetz, who has always been a sports fan, came through with her contribution of covering the athletic version of the 1962 school year.

February 15 Deadline

Well organized equipment is essential to any photographer. Jay Terrell, staff photographer, makes sure he is ready for all occasions.

The smiles on the faces of Co-editors Carol Wyrick and Janette Ralph, who are sending layouts to the yearbook company, barely express their joy and relief of knowing that they have met their deadline.

Student Council Begins School Year With

Tina Hicks, president of Student Council, calls a meeting to order while Nancy Haussman, treasurer, Carolyn Duke, secretary, Terry Taylor, vice-president and Janette Ralph, parliamentarian, wait to hear the order of business.

"Two game tickets, please," says an enthusiastic basketball fan to Kathy Vaneck and Livvy Kilbourne, two members of the student service committee.

Election Of Officers

Being a member of Student Council is an honor and privilege experienced by only a portion of Calumet's student body. These active members are in charge of numerous school activities including the operation of the jukebox during the lunch hours and school dances, all full or partial assemblies, the polio drive and all associated activities; among them the "slave sales, the polio dance and the various other ways of making money for the drive. Also, all class elections and programs concerned with school spirit.

The members of the Student Council are selected through separate class elections. All presidents of classes or organizations are automatically included in the club.

Among the duties of Betty Mead, assembly chairman, is acting as M. C. at assembly programs; here a pep session.

Counting ballots is just one of the duties of Jerry Poortinga, Peggy Kennedy and Larry Lockhart, members of the elections committee.

Handing the gavel of authority to Tina Hicks, president of the student council, is Larry Simpson, last year's vice-president.

Such Insignificant Things Can Mean So Much

To So Many Athletes

A sore throat, tear-stained faces, and a runny nose help Calumet High School sport's enthusiasts to remember the football, basketball, track, and baseball games. For the boys who played, the ecstasy of winning, even if it was only one game for the season, makes up for the games they lost and all the time and effort they spent practicing.

Pride in the team is depicted in the gold statue earned as a first place in the Gary Sectionals.

The 1961 cross country team consists of: (first row) L. Simpson, (second row) E. Padron, R. Albrecht, (third row) D. Schreiner, R. Book, D. Kurts, (fourth row) J. Poortinga, K. Maloney, M.

Ligocki, J. Jones, S. Robbins, (fifth row) T. LaGrand, D. Poor, B. Cudziol, E. Voiles, J. Loy, R. Owen, and M. Maxwell.

Calumet Harriers Prove Themselves Capable

Losing only to the traditional rivals, Hobart, Calumet's cross country team ended the '61 season with a 8 - 2 won-lost record. Due mostly to the spectacular running of senior, Larry Simpson, Calumet's harriers finished with a satisfying fourth place finish in the Indiana High School Cross Country Meet at Indianapolis and a sensational first place at the Hobart Invitational.

Providing the depth needed in a well-balanced team was Jim Jones, Efrain Padron, Larry Huddleston, Don Kurts, Roger Book, Walker Litherlin, Richard Albrecht and Don Schreiner.

Although three members of the team, Simpson, Albrecht and Schreiner will be graduating in the spring, sophomores, Kurts and Book show great promise in being able to follow in the footsteps of the three graduates.

Last minute drills before a big meet are always important and of great benefit to each member of any team—ours is no exception.

Seen getting in shape to run another fine race are Martin Ligocki, Jerry Poortinga, and Joe Cudziol.

In Sectional Triumph

Warrior Gridmen Tackle Their Way Through

Although the Warrior eleven finished the season with an unimpressive 2-7-1 record, each game proved to be entertaining for the better-than-average crowd of spectators.

The "hard luck" team encountered a number of tough breaks in their difficult schedule and under normal conditions could have changed their record tremendously. This was evidenced by Dave Alvarado's 85 points and Ken Hamilton's 56 points scored during the season. Statistically, both individuals exceeded the total points earned by any preceding team at C.H.S. Three games were lost by a total of five points, and two games were lost by one touchdown.

Next year's team will have to fill the places of seniors, Larry Wall, Leonard Aranda, Rich Hixon, Harry Warrens, Ken O'Deen, Dave Alvarado, Elmer Hart, Howard Godfrey, Layne Thoreson, Don Waters, Joe Garcia and most of all the captains, Larry May and Ken Hamilton.

The Best Season Yet

R. Lee, D. Waters, E. Tall, G. Remington, L. Anthony. (fourth row) R. Sanders, C. Bewick, G. Thickens, M. Bucko, T. Wilson, R. Mantz, J. Willsey, W. Martin and N. Williams.

Freshmen Finish With

Using brute force to keep the Hobart defender from getting the needed yardage for a first down, Dave Alvarado shows himself to be an apt opponent.

Dodging a Hobart tackler, Dave Alvarado sprints for another touchdown during the Homecoming game on November 7, 1961.

Quarterback Kenny O'Deen battles for yardage while Elmer Hart, Larry May, and Richard Hixon look anxiously on during the game with Chesterton.

Howard Godfrey and Tom Howard provide the blocking during the Chesterton game to help Dave Alvarado go for another touchdown.

Kenny Hamilton, senior, was picking up valuable yardage before he was tackled by his Hobart opponent.

Outstanding Record—An Undefeated Season

row) M. Bucko, J. Willsey, G. Remington, R. Stamper, R. Hoover, C. Williamson. (third row) D. Hamilton, C. Harper, M. Nies, G. Thickens, and B. Bittke.

As the saying goes, there is always a silver lining in every cloud. This year's freshman football team, for the second consecutive year, finished with an undefeated season. Quarterback Ernie Tall's superior passing and leadership abilities guided the freshmen to victory after victory.

Unfortunately the "B" team cannot boast of an undefeated season, but was greatly improved over the "B" team of last year. With a 4 - 1 record, Coach Trcka's junior varsity show great promise and should be more than able to take over the varsity football team next year.

Varsity Cagers Register Many Points And

After a slow start, Calumet's Warriors picked up steam and finished the season with a better-than-average record.

This year's varsity team played ball below its potential. This is clearly indicated by the fact that more than a half dozen games were lost in the last few minutes. Again, this year, height, or lack of it, made victory understandably difficult against such rivals as Roosevelt and Chesterton.

The Warriors of '63 will miss the departing seniors, Vondrak, Thornton, Gearon, and Hartman from the starting line-up. Junior, Tom Kirklin will be the only returning member of the starting five.

Taking advantage of the half-time, Coach Traicoff gives his starting five some instructions on how they can better their offensive and defensive plays.

Fair Record For Season

All eyes are up, and the ball is too, in the Warriors' first match on the floor against the Merrillville Pirates.

The Chesterton match found Dave Alvarado fighting for that ball, as well as a "Trojan" player, and also, in an unusual position.

Is it or isn't it? The team waits in anticipation to see if Alfred Thornton's 15-footer hits the mark during the game against Gary Roosevelt.

In the process of completing one of his well-known jump shots, George Vondrak shows no mercy on his defenders from Thornton Fractional South.

The victorious Warriors run over to share their feelings with other members of the team after winning the Calumet vs. St. Mary's game.

Reserve And Freshman

Coach Bjelich points out new techniques to his 1962 reserve team consisting of: (first row) R. Book, D. Stricklett, R. Mantz, C.

Harper, O. Coleman, L. Berdine. (second row) J. Natale, S. Robbins, D. Bates, B. Pikula, J. Poortinga, L. Anthony.

Laying it up and in despite the defensive maneuvers of a T.F. South player, Clarence Harper contributes another two points.

Finishing the season with a very good record, the 1962 reserve Warrior team shows great promise in ability to advance to the varsity ranks. Clarence Harper provided the height needed for victory after victory. He was ably helped by teammates Oscar Coleman and Lee Berdine. These three sparked the balance of shooting and rebounding needed for a good basketball team.

With both Harper and Coleman sure to advance to the varsity within a short time, Coach Bjelich will have to again look to the freshman team, who this year supplied him with these two outstanding players.

"Jump ball" signals the referee as Lee Berdine gets up slowly to his feet to fight for possession of the ball during the Chesterton game.

Teams Insure Good Seasons In Years To Come

Despite a Dyer opponent's superior height in blocking him, Wayne Flarety finds the mark with a five-foot jump shot.

Playing without the help of either Clarence Harper or Oscar Coleman, the freshman basketball team finished the season with a better-than-average record. Due largely to the expert guidance of Coach Surdy, new coach this year, the boys have steadily increased in experience and ability.

Both coaches, Bjelich and Traicoff, expect important things from the freshman boys in the years to come.

Morrie Nies attempts a bank shot after succeeding in faking out defending player during a freshman game.

Before a game, Calumet's varsity team warms up under the appraising eye of Coach Traicoff.

Intramurals Provide Team Work And Excitement

The "Conquistadores" consisting of Mike McBride, Ron Sellberg, Barnett Wilson, Loyal Beasley and Dick Wall, led the American League in the race for the championship as of February 15.

Also during February, the "Flintstones" consisting of Ken Hamilton, Joe Rhyne, Dennis Butler, Harry Warrens, and Ken O'Deen were leading in the fight for the championship in the National League.

For Interested Boys

Every Saturday morning, sounds of boys playing basketball are heard coming from the gym. These boys, for the most part underclassmen, are playing what is known as intramural basketball. The boys are divided into teams and each team chooses their own team name. Some of the names are the "Hawks", the "Topcats," and the "Roaches". They then play each other every Saturday; the goal being first place in the league standings, either the American League or the National League.

At the end of the season, Coach Joseph presents awards to the members of the winning teams.

The rebound goes to the highest boy as proved in this picture of a Saturday intramural basketball game.

Still in bounds and ready to fight for rights to the ball, a "Roach" player gets ready to retrieve it for his team.

Referees, Ken O'Dean and Ken Hamilton wait with interest to see if Wayne Cash's free throw will drop through the hoop during the "Topcat-Roach" game.

School-spirited Fans Respond To The Cries

Junior varsity cheerleaders Vivian McCoy, Judy Carpenter, Julie Valenga, Josephine Orban, Carolyn Duke and Karen Bjorklund, are junior cheerleaders in name only. Their support of the team can undoubtedly be classed as "senior" quality, and such success has come with a lot of practice after school days and on week ends.

One of the most inspiring moments in the pep sessions held this year, was the varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders combining their actions and yells to lead the student body in C.H.S.'s alma mater immediately following the Pledge of Allegiance.

Practice makes perfect and in order to work toward perfection the cheerleaders hold a practice once a week to brush up on the old and practice some new stunts. Also, the cheerleaders acquired new uniforms, which the girls made themselves. In addition, they made a special effort to create a pep club in which everyone is eligible to join. To give the cheers a solid backing all Varsity Club members are required to give their support.

Both the varsity and the reserve cheerleaders are chosen by the officers of G.A.A. and other members of the athletic department and the faculty. Co-ordination, voice, ability, poise, appearance and enthusiasm are all taken into consideration when the selection is made.

Of The Cheerleaders

Just as the rays from the sun shine through the gymnasium windows, so shines the school spirit of the varsity cheerleaders at the athletic contests. They are Rayette Ashby, Marsha Wrobleuski, Frankie Wells, and Sue Fabian, captain.

Every tribe needs to be led by a chief and every guy needs to be admired by a girl. Johnny Griffiths and Chelley Human are the vivacious mascots of C.H.S.

Memories Of Student Life Fill A Page Of

Moments to Remember:

High School History

Everything to do with school is part of student life. Not only games, sock-hops, candy drives, band and choral concerts, car washes, proms, and plays but hair styles, fads and assemblies are also a part of the student's life. School is hard, time consuming, troublesome, inconvenient, tedious, and at times boring, but it's fun and we'll remember it!

New Activities And

The smiles belong to the three lovely girls who were queen candidates in the Football-O-Rama. Karen Bounds reigned as queen and Doris Ohm and Carol Wyrick were attendants.

Before school convened in September, Ken McLean occupied his leisure hours by working and earning money at a local drive-in.

"Long time, no see". This could be what Judy Timmerman is saying to Mardell Hollar while they renew acquaintances after the summer's vacation.

"Welcome Back" says Mr. Joseph to Barbara Flint. Both teacher and student are always glad to renew old acquaintances.

Old Classmates Promise Good Times This Year

Harry Warrens and Ken O'Dean are letting the world know that they are backing Calumet's cross country team, who won the sectionals at Hobart, to go all the way down state.

Even though very few admit it, most students cannot wait to get back to school, to friends and favorite teachers, after their summer vacations. The big day finally arrives and after a day of crowding, shoving, and searching for seemingly lost classrooms, we are usually ready to get back to loafing around the house or a nearby beach.

Then the first day turns into the first month and everyone is supposedly in an everyday routine. How well we will remember the extra-curricular activities, the basketball and football games, homecoming, the sock-hops, and a very important event, the prom. Truly, these will be "moments to remember."

The meaning behind the American flag and the respect held for the people who fought for it, command the attention of the C.H.S. students before a pep assembly.

Books, Studies, And Fun Go Hand In Hand To

Most of the students at C.H.S. begin their school day just as these are, who are boarding the bus on 41st Avenue.

The few minutes between classes enables Carolyn Duke and Kenny O'Deen to pause for a chat in the hall.

Both the hunger pains and the urge to gossip is satisfied during a lunch hour "gab session".

Make Day At Calumet

Sometimes the weather results in some most embarrassing situations such as it did in Sharon Sellers case.

After lunch is over, students accumulate their needed texts and head for their afternoon classes.

To break the monotony of the school day, students made good use of lunch hours by dancing to the records on the juke box in the gym.

Joyce Nagy, Robbi Nidelhoff, and Lavonne Ligocki are beginning to wonder if all this is worth calling for a ride home after an extra-curricular meeting.

Working together is the best way to get a job done as Sharon Beal, Mary Ann Mikalowsky, Judy Moyer, and Barbara Casassa, office assistants can well say.

Students Aid Student

This year, as in years before, groups of responsible students at Calumet contributed portions of their time for the benefit of the school body. They are active throughout each day, performing tasks which are necessary for the smooth functioning of the school.

In the mornings, student workers make supplies available to the students. At lunch, selling ice cream and assisting the cafeteria personnel keep several of these students busy.

Throughout the day, giving aid at various times are the gym assistants in the physical education classes, the lab assistants in the biology and chemistry labs, the office assistants in the school office, and the assistants in the library.

"What kind of change do you want?" may be the comment of Donna Sowles as a student pays her for his lunch.

The services provided by the library assistants cannot be taken lightly. Checking passes, issuing books, and rearranging book shelves are just a few of the many duties performed by Linda Hadady and Linda Schil-ler.

Body And Faculty Through Their Services

"Service with a smile" is a motto clearly expressed by Linda Miller as she willingly sells an ice cream cone at lunch hour.

Elaine Volk, senior, is not unfamiliar with selling supplies to the student body. During her four years at Calumet Elaine has given her time and effort freely in providing this service.

Seniors Headline Fads

With Their Conception of Senior "Cords"

Square toes, though not really "square," are the latest hit in fashion footwear and are being worn by members of both sexes.

"That's sharp, fine, and tough," are adjectives often used by students to describe the fashions and fads at C.H.S.

Bows seem to be the latest sensation. They are worn in all sizes and in all colors to accent the new "ratted" and "flip" look in hair styles.

In the shoe department, square toes, French heels, sweat socks, and gym shoes have come to the rescue of cramped toes and have pushed pointed-toed shoes into second place.

For that long, slinky and sometimes baggy look, fringy but long sweaters are moving into the scene. Ruffled blouses have also come back with frills high on the collar, low on the wrists and even around the bottom.

The continental and ivy league look has entered into Calumet's halls, too. This year the boys have changed from the usual crew and long curly hair cuts to an all new ivy league style. They, also, go for the continental look in slacks which are beltless and tapered in the legs.

Shirley Sokol takes no chances of looking untidy and, thus, gives her fashionable hair style that added touch before class convenes.

Marsha Wrobleuski is one girl who is in full fashion. She has the new short, short haircut to match the length of her skirt. Ruffles and bows combine to add that feminine look and her feet are kept warm with coordinating sweat socks.

"Not another one!" thinks Elmer Hart gazing at Sharon Beal's senior "cords," and Sharon shows her amazement at seeing another letterman's jacket while walking through Calumet's halls.

Roaring Bonfire, Powder Puff's Herald In

The excitement before and the stillness afterward combine to make a lasting memory of the bonfire before homecoming.

Carole Prasnikar edges away from one of the vivacious "Love Pats" to run and score a touchdown in the G.A.A. Powder Puff Game.

Everyone's attention is drawn to the opening kickoff of the traditional Homecoming game.

Homecoming Pageantry

Homecoming gives the students a chance to display their talents in making their class float. These freshmen are Sharon Heights, Judy McLean, Sylvia Nidelchoff, Livvy Kilbourne, Janice Rister, Cathy Johnston, and John Banks have hopes that their float will take first place.

The crowd stands, a hush settles, the teams are lined up and finally the football is kicked. Homecoming 1961-62 has started.

The Hobart Brickies and the Calumet Warriors tangled that cold night of Nov. 7, but homecoming excitement really started when the first poster went up urging everyone to vote for the girl they wanted to be homecoming queen. Twenty girls participated this year, each was sponsored by a club and a $5 entrance fee was required. That first poster started everything, and from that day forth the enthusiasm was in everyone's blood.

The bonfire brought out everyone's school spirit, for no one seemed to mind the cold and cheered until their throats ached. The Varsity Club provided the wood and the cheerleaders led the cheers. The next day, Nov. 3, a pep session was held and the cross-country team was honored. Tina Hicks, president of the student council and chairman of homecoming, acted as M.C.

This was to be the day of homecoming but the game was called off because of the fields condition. All was not lost, though, the weather cleared up and homecoming was planned for Nov. 7. The football players and queen candidates were introduced and the cheerleaders led the students in cheers to build up school spirit once again during the pep session.

Now the half time gun has sounded and the band marches onto the field to the tune of "Billboard March" only to turn western and pay tribute to T.V. programs. Back in marching formation and standing at attention they await the floats. And here they come!

Slowly the senior float starts around the track. "Winter Wonderland" was the theme chosen by the seniors and following close behind was the junior float representing spring with "April In Paris". Not to be out done, the sophomores reminded us of fall with "School Days," and finally "Moonlight and Roses" by the freshmen made us think of summer and vacation time. Riding on the top of each of these floats were five girls, each one wondering "who will be homecoming queen?"

The time is here, Terry Taylor, m.c., announces that "School Days" has been chosen as the winning float and Virginia Spiller is homecoming queen. The queen circles the track on the float twice and the second half begins. We lost the game but in the hearts of all is the thrill that the team put forth their best efforts.

During the dance following the game, Harry Warrens was crowned Mr. Football by the homecoming queen. The night was complete when the king and queen danced their coronation dance.

Selling peanuts for polio is only part of a "Polio Drive". Eating them and relaxing seems to appeal to Suzanne Carden, Tina Hicks and Judy Wyrick.

Calumet Teens Raise

"Stop! Help! Give for polio!" This was the familiar cry of Calumet students, January 19 and 20, during the annual "Polio Drive." Each year the students all over the country group together to raise funds for those crippled with polio.

Calumet does its share for the cause by selling slaves at lunch hours, which are expected to carry the books of his owner for a day. Also, raffle tickets are sold; the prize being free telephone service for a full year. The cheerleaders pass the school blanket at the basketball games and all proceeds go to the fund. The real all-out effort came on Saturday, January 20, when the entire community was bombarded by teen-agers crying "Buy peanuts for polio! Give!"

A dance was sponsored by the polio foundation after the day of the drive and the results of the drive was announced. Calumet came in second in the Gary area with $1,001.45, only to be exceeded by Lew Wallace High School.

A motorist in the community hears the prominent cry of January 20, "Buy peanuts for polio!", from Elmer Hart and Kenny Hamilton.

Cold but determined to sell peanuts is Barbara McBrayer, Carolyn Crowe and Judy Moyer. Sharon Beal weathers the elements and contributes willingly.

Joyce Nagy pushes the cause for polio by selling Frankie Wells a raffle ticket, which gives the winner free telephone service for a year.

Over $1,000 To Place Second In The Area

The cold, grumpy people and troubles of the "Polio Drive" was worth it. Howard Godfrey and David Hochstetler, co-chairmen, happily admire the trophy awarded to the teens at C.H.S. for a second place in the area.

Teachers, Classmates Discover Friendships

Moments to Remember:

In New Acquaintances

School does more than teach us English, mathematics, and science. It gives us the opportunity to become acquainted with many personalities; for example, the basketball "star" you had a crush on, the teacher you hated because he failed you, and the girl you wouldn't speak to for a whole day because she wore a skirt just like yours! Once these all seemed so very important, but in a short time they were forgotten and everyone was your friend.

The senior class officers are Terry Taylor, vice-president; Janette Ralph, president; Tina Hicks, secretary, and Howard Godfrey, treasurer.

A full schedule is faced each year by the planning committee and the class officers of the senior class. All activities and planning rest on their shoulders. The planning, building and responsibility of a float for Homecoming is first on the list of big events. Then the ordering of announcements and name cards follow close behind. February brings the pleasant chore of measurements for caps and gowns to be worn in red by the boys and white by the girls.

The seniors look forward to the prom and the senior banquet held at Marquette Park Pavilion. This is their last year and everything is carried out in a bang-up fashion. To build up the class treasury and bring some enjoyment to the routine school life, a sock hop is sponsored by the class. A senior class party is held in February. On this occasion, only seniors may attend. They put records and refreshments to good use by all who attend. To put a top on the year, is baccalaureate services and last, but not least, --graduation night.

Betty Mead Elected

The junior class officers are Betty Mead, president; Pam Thickins, vice-president; Sandra Christoff, secretary; and Jackie Timmerman, treasurer.

How to raise money for the prom? This was the question asked by members of the junior class. It was decided to sell candy with all profits going toward the financing of the prom. This year's planning committee worked hard to make the class of '63's prom a success.

The wearing of a class ring does not complete the responsibilities of a junior class member. The leaders, as well as the followers, must work in a spirit of cooperation and unity, and this year's junior class proved they could do just that. By applying themselves to each of their individual tasks, they completed the assigned projects with surprising results. Without the excellent supervision and guidance of the class sponsors, the faculty member who devoted time and energy to student projects, much of what was accomplished would not have been.

Next year's eleventh grade will have their work cut out for them. With good leadership, cooperation, and perseverance, they will be able to follow in the footsteps of their predecessors.

The sophomore class officers are Sharon Wilson, president; Laurann Castle, vice-president; Doris Ohm, secretary; and Barbara Flint, treasurer.

The sophomore class officers and planning committee, assisted by their head sponsor, Mrs. Filomae Schmidt, plan and carry out the different activities of the graduating class of 1964.

The most important of these activities is the selection of class rings. After the class officers and planning committee choose the company and two or three different styles of rings are picked, the entire sophomore class votes on which of the three styles they want and the color of stone they prefer, if they desire to limit the color. The class orders their rings in the spring and receives them late in the summer or at the beginning of their junior year.

One of the class's money-making projects of the year is their annual class dance which is held in September.

The class has also started making advanced plans for their prom -- a gala social event that will be held in their junior year.

In addition, the class prides itself with winning the trophy for the best homecoming float during their two years at Calumet.

Freshmen Begin 1961-62 School Year With

The freshman class officers are Kathy Vaneck, president; Livvy Kilbourn, secretary, LaDonna Frye, vice-president, and Sylvia Nidelchoff, treasurer.

The year 1962 has given the freshmen their first year of memories at C.H.S. with three more to go.

At "Homecoming" they made a good showing with the float, "Moonlight in Roses." It gave the illusion of a lovely park scene with a white bench, and a stream covered with a bridge. The bridge was covered with red roses made of tissue, and the fence and bench were of white wood.

If there's a dance and you want to twirl your girl, you don't stop to think who planned the sock hop; but they are made possible by the planning committee, who is also responsible for any other activities carried on by the class. Such a sock hop was held after the Chesterton basketball game in February by the freshmen class.

The first year is the hardest, with strange surroundings and older students looking down on the "freshies"; but it's traditional and everyone sincerely hopes the freshmen enjoy the first year at Calumet and that the next three will be even more enjoyable than the first.

Principal, Board, And

"The meeting shall come to order," are the first words spoken at the board meetings at Calumet Township schools, but they are by no means the only ones, for the school board has to give the final word on all things concerning the Metropolitan School District.

The men who have the responsibility of decision making in the district are: Austin Moore, president, Wayne Peters, first vice-president, Harry Seberger, second vice-president, Robert Olson, secretary, and Stanley Forcht, treasurer. John T. Gunning, the newly appointed superintendent of schools is also at all of the meetings. All the members of the school board are elected.

There is at last one board meeting a month and everyone in the community is invited and urged to attend.

This year there were many new changes made at Calumet, among which are: the airborne television sets, decoration of the offices, new gym doors and others. All came as a result of the concurrent action of the school board and the superintendent.

Mr. John T. Gunning, superintendent, is shown explaining the map, located in his office, depicting the twelve-mile area of Calumet Township.

Administration, Faculty Efforts Pave Way

"Two heads are better than one," especially when you're dealing with teen-agers. Thus, Mr. Harold Huff, dean of students, and Mr. Max Hile, assistant principal, combine their thoughts on a student problem.

Mrs. Corinne Redar, bookkeeper and treasurer, is in charge of all keys at Calumet in addition to her monetary position.

Mrs. Shirley Pinkstaff, secretary to Mr. Strycker, checks the date on a correspondence form while in the process of proof-reading her work.

There are jealousies among the faculty as there are among the students! There was some comment about a certain hat recently and Mrs. Corinne Redar, Mrs. Shirley Pinkstaff, and Mrs. Mildred Morrison, are determined not to be outdone.

Staff Remembers Days And Days Of Soliciting

Moment to Remember:

For Advertisements

Subscribers often do not realize the responsibilities that arise when a yearbook is published. A great deal of time, effort, and money are involved. Since money is often times the major obstacle, "The Chieftain" staff makes provisions to finance its publication by soliciting the businessmen in the community for advertisements.

This year a total of 30 pages was sold and often, very often, it was done on Saturdays whether the weather man recommended it or not.

"The place to go for the brand you know"

Northern Indiana's largest men's wear store

what's their future

The young people you see in these pictures are all on their way to successful careers in one of America's basic industries . . . steel. They decided (as we hope you will decide) to let Inland Steel Company help them plan their future.

Some are gaining knowledge and experience in special trades to become journeyman machinists, carpenters or electricians . . . some are concentrating on certain phases of steelmaking by working in the open hearth shops, the cold rolling mills or the galvanizing lines. Still others are working in laboratories building a sound foundation for a future in steel research.

Inland offers the high school graduate an excellent opportunity to further his education. Employees may participate in a variety of on-the-job training programs, or they can continue their formal education by registering for evening courses offered by local Purdue and Indiana University Extension Centers.

Plan now to investigate the unlimited opportunities for you in steel . . . with the midwest's own steel company . . . INLAND STEEL.
